Rebel hardballers look to rebuild

The 1990 Mountain Valley Conference baseball season gets underway for the Telstar Rebels this afternoon (Wednesday) at Lisbon.

This season is going to be a bit more relaxed for Telstar baseball coach Levi Brown. "You won't see me pacing back and forth in the dugout anymore," he said.

Last season was filled with high acomplishment, but also with high expectations and high pressure. The eight senior starters on the varsity squad had only one goal for the season—to win the state championship.

The seniors had played together since they were freshmen, and each year they had taken a step closer to the state title. Not to win it as seniors would turn their final season, whatever its other accomplishments, into a disappointment.

All season they pointed toward June, and when the time came they climaxed their four years at Telstar by taking it all—beating George Stevens Academy 6-2, and capturing the Maine Class C State Championship.

But this season the pressure's off. "If we finish at .500, I'll be happy," Brown said.

It should be an interesting season, nonetheless. Pitching is a big question mark, but the Rebel batters are showing a surprising amount of punch.

"The biggest surprise is how well we've been able to hit the ball," he said. This year the offensive power is spread throughout the lineup rather than con-

State Supreme Court rules against skiway sales tax challenge

Sunday River Skiway Corp. has failed in its bid to recover $165,438 in state sales taxes it paid on ski lift and snowmaking equipment, sand, loam and gravel purchased approximately two years ago.

The justices of the Maine Supreme Court ruled unanimously last week that the state had the right to tax the materials as personal property.

The skiway had contended that since the materials had been incorporated into the mountain's landscape before they were fully paid for, they should be taxed as a fixed asset.

Last week's ruling upheld an earlier decision by the Oxford Superior Court siding with the state tax assessor.

Sunday River spokesman Bill Jenson said the skiway had paid the state tax, but then challenged it in court because the skiway believed the system amounted to double taxation on the equipment and materials.

"We live in a society where if you think a law is unfair you can challenge it," he said.

Andover fire chief wants new vote on new or used truck

At their Tuesday night meeting, Andover selectmen voted to table a decision on purchasing a $1,000 Honda gas generator for Civil Defense. A similar generator is being purchased for the fire department.

Fire Chief Ken Dixon told the selectmen his search for a used fire engine has ceased, "until a town meeting, or they give me some money to put down on one. It is a waste of my time and a waste of their time," he said.

Dixon also announced his intention of having two articles on the town meeting warrant, one for $150,000 to $160,000 for a new engine, and one for purchase of a used engine, amount unspecified.

He said he had been approached by the recreation committee to locate a skating rink behind the fire station. 'I am very much against this," he said. "There may be training towers out there. It is also not healthy to have kids running around the station and have a fire call. It is like waiting for an accident to happen."

Treasurer Alex LeGault submitted to the board a first quarter report of town spending on major accounts. The selectmen also signed four bank letters requesting bids on an amount to be borrowed not to exceed $175,000, interest to be paid as the money is borrowed. This money will tide the town over until taxes are collected.

The selectmen are actively seeking a part time constable or law enforcement official for the town, and spoke to two local persons with law enforcement experience seeking their input. Their concern is lack of aggressive law enforcement, especially during the summer months, and they are investigating a number of options.

The selectmen as yet have no plans and no costs to bring to a town meeting in regard to specifications on remodeling the town hall or enlarging the present town office, and are taking steps to remedy the situation.

The town is hiring Gerry Schachter at $5.50 an hour, plus expenses, to take photos of road work done by Blue Rock Industries at the suggestion of town attorney Curtiss Webber. Selectman Fred Emerson will contact Blue Rock as to the date the work can be completed. Blue

EARTH DAY WEAR—Lauren Head and Uel Gardner display the T-shirt commemorating the Bethel area's celebration of 1990 Earth Day. The shirts were printed by Groan & McGurn and are available there and at True North Adventurewear. They will be also be sold on Sunday, Earth Day, at Gould Academy's Bingham Hall. Proceeds from the sale of the shirts will benefit local environmental organizations, including the Mahoosuc Land Trust, Friends of the Androscoggin, and the Maine Conservation School, in Bryant Pond. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

Andover rec committee, selectmen at stand-off

By CHRISTY CROSS

A stand-off between the Andover selectmen and the town's recreation committee continues this week, with no resolution on the immediate horizon.

The selectmen voted March 20 to remove 17-year old Christian Hutchins from the recreation committee because he was skateboarding on the town's tennis court.

The recreation committee subsequently refused to remove Hutchins, saying the selectmen did not have the power to take such action.

The townspeople voted at March town meeting to appoint seven members to constitute the Andover Recreaton Committee, with three of these members to be young people.

The recreation committee maintains that since the townspeople voted on the committee, only the townspeople can remove the members. The selectmen say that recreation committee members in the past have simply joined the committee, acting pretty much independently.

Neither party can cite a town policy for forming and maintaining a recreation committee

Last week, the selectmen explained their position.

"Three weeks ago [Saturday] the skateboarders were on the tennis court. And Sunday morning, they were on there again," says First Selectman Fred Emerson.

"I was asked by a member of the recreation committee to get them to leave."

Emerson did not name the committee member.

According to Emerson, skateboarding on the tennis court is forbidden by a town ordinance the selectmen enacted last year because the boards were damaging the surface of the court. Also, he said, last year boys were skateboarding on the tennis court, even while people were trying to play tennis.

The tennis court and private property, he said, are the only places in town where skateboarding is banned.

Emerson said he went to the tennis court March 18 and told the four skateboarders to leave. Hutchins, one of the four, expressed a bad attitude, Emerson said.

"It's not like this is a first or a second or a third time," Emerson said. "He had been asked many times before."

Following the incident, Emerson said, he decided to bring it to the board of selectmen, so the board could decide.

"I brought it to the board and said I would like to see this individual dismissed from the recreation committee," Emerson said. "We voted to remove Christian Hutchins from the recreation committee. Brian [Mills, selectman and recreation committee member] opposed and Bill [Maselli, selectman] voted with me."

Emerson and Mills agreed that at that first meeting both Mills and Maselli thought the matter should have been brought to the committee or at least the committee should have been informed that the selectmen were going to be discussing action on the matter at their meeting. Maselli, however, voted to back Emerson, they said.

Mills said, "I informed the recreation committee the selectmen had voted to remove Christian Hutchins from the committee. The recreation committee decided that the selectmen didn't have

Sue Farrar invited to signing of 'Samantha on Stage' at Boston/Bloshoi ballet in May

Bethel dancer-author-teacher Sue Farrar has been invited to the Wang Center in Boston next month to sign copies of the latest release of her award-winning children's book "Samantha on Stage."

The occasion is a joint production of Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake," with dancers from both the Boston Ballet Company and Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet.

Farrar said the co-production, made possible by Mikhail Gorbachev's Perestroika policy, is a first in the world of dance.

In her book, however—which was written more than ten years ago—Farrar dealt with the relationship between an American and a Russian dancer.

Farrar said she developed much of the material for the book while herself studying at the Bolshoi.

"Samantha" was first published by the Dial Press in 1980, and later reissued by Scholastic Press of New York and by Julia McRae of London.

In May it will be reissued yet again, by Puffin Books, a division of Viking Press.

The book has won awards from the Children's Book Council, International Readers, West Australia Young Readers and Maine Book Mark.

Farrar said an Australian film maker is considering making a movie of the book.

Farrar has not rested on her literary laurels. A sequel, "Bravo, Samantha," is being considered by Viking, and a teen novel, "Emily and her Cavalier," will be published by Windswept House in 1991.

Farrar will be signing copies of "Samantha on Stage," at Saturday and Sunday matinees of "Swan Lake," on May 5 and 6.

Tickets for "Swan Lake" may be purchased by calling the Wang Center Box Office, at 1-617-964-4070.

Mud Day, Earth Day fill weekend activity schedule

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The upcoming weekend will be filled with earthy events—some high-minded, some down and dirty, but all celebrating our intimate relationship with the only planet we've got.

Canoe trips, hiking, music, lectures, potluck lunches, panel discussions, earth games, and the joining of hands will mark the Bethel area's celebration of Earth Day 1990—the 20th anniversary of the original Earth Day, in 1970, and the beginning of what supporters hope will be "The Decade of the Environment."

Earth Day events, concentrated on Sunday, will offer participants a chance to join in celebrating the earth, to ponder the crucial problems facing it, and to commit themselves to helping to save its fragile environment.

— Mud Day —

There will also be a a full calendar of earth-oriented events on Saturday, but of a somewhat less serious tone. Some, in fact, unashamedly offer an excuse to come play in the mud.

Sponsored by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, Mud Day makes a virtue of a seasonal necessity, by celebrating the joys of that brief period of time between the last blizzard and the first blackflies.

The period is traditionally a slow one for tourism, but organizers hope to make more people aware of the great variety of both winter and summer recreational activities available during mud season.

The day's events will kick off at 9 a.m. with a cross-country foot race for all ages, to be held on Gould Academy's upper athletic field. Registration for the race begins at 8 a.m.

At 11 a.m. Sunday River Skiway will host an alpine obstacle course, also for all ages. Registration is at South Ridge Center.

At 1 p.m mud slinging—"a hurling event for the throwing arm"—starts in the Sudbury Inn parking lot.

And at 3 p.m. mud volleyball begins at the Only Place Restaurant in West Bethel.

The Telstar High School junior class will prepare the dirty day's dessert at 5 p.m., when they attempt to build the world's largest mud pie at the school.

Portions of the 6,300-pound pie (actually, chocolate pudding) will be sold off as a fund raising event for the class, and any unsold pie will be donated to nursing homes and other social agencies.

The Mud Day events will conclude with a 8 p.m. concert by Tom Hoffman and the Maine Jazz/Fusion Quintet. The highly regarded ensemble will perform at the Telstar High School auditorium.

Proceeds from the concert will benefit the Mahoosuc Land Trust, and tickets are available from the Bethel Area Reservation Service, or from Mahoosuc members.

— Earth Day —

Earth Day 1990 is a worldwide celebration to mark the 20th anniversary of the first Earth Day and to launch "The Decade of the Environment."

Local Earth Day events have already begun, with morning environmental assemblies at Gould Academy and campus/community litter pick up.

On Sunday, the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond will hold its Earth Day celebration, which will include a non-denominational service, potluck lunch, environmental activites and games, and a lecture on Maine's critical areas and habitats by Professor Dean Bennett of the University of Maine at Farmington.

Events at the conservation school will begin at 11 a.m. Admission is free, but please call 665-2068 to reserve your space.

At Gould Academy, a daylong 'Earth Day Conference at Bingham Hall will feature environmentally oriented workshops and films, and there will be information tables on local and national natural resource protection issues, organizations and programs.

There will also be canoe trips and hikes throughout the day.

At 2 p.m. there will be a litter cleanup, starting from the Bethel Common. Participants are asked to bring empty bags and boxes.

From 2 to 4 p.m., there will also be bluegrass and folk music at Bingham Hall. Bring your instrument!

The feature nature film "Never Cry Wolf" will be shown at Bingham Hall, at 4:30 and 9 p.m.

A panel discussion, "Responsible Environmentalism in the 1990s," will be held at Bingham Hall from 5 to 6 p.m. Panelists will include educators, politicians and representatives from conservation groups and private industry

The day will conclude at 7 p.m. with a concert by folk artist and naturalist

Bethel needs sign ordinance

The Port Sports sign saga in Bethel points to an obvious deficiency in the town's ordinances, a deficiency that has led to what appears to be discrimination in signage allowable in the town.

It seems absurd that the Backstage Restaurant owner can walk away from a planning board meeting secure in the planning board's opinion that no ordinances govern his plan to erect a sign three feet high and as long as the ridgepole atop his Backstage building, while the owners of Port Sports have to take down their "oversized" sign.

The difference is that Backstage, operating prior to the adoption of Bethel's site plan review ordinance, is grandfathered. As long as the restaurant remains a restaurant and doesn't increase substantially in size, its owner or a subsequent owner can put up any number of signs, as big as he or she pleases.

Businesses which have opened since adoption of the site plan ordinance, such as Port Sports, or which have changed use or substantially enlarged since the plan's adoption, are limited by the ordinance to two signs, not to exceed 12 or 32 square feet. The size of the sign allowable depends on whether the signs are erected in a 25-35 mph or an over 35-mph speed limit area.

What this all means, and what Port Sports owners argued before the Bethel Planning Board and, subsequently, before the board of appeals, is that new businesses must operate at a sign disadvantage compared with businesses in existence prior to 1987, when the site plan was originally adopted.

Under the ordinance, neither the planning board nor the board of appeals had any option but to deny Port Sports' request to keep the sign.

It is understandable that the people of Bethel, in adopting the ordinance, had in mind keeping their town from becoming like North Conway, N.H., or Freeport, Me. But it is not understandable that they would try to continue to hold the line using only this ordinance, which so clearly favors the existing business community over new businesses.

We recommend that the town seriously consider drafting a sign ordinance, which will cover signage for all businesses. Of course, the existing signs would still be grandfathered, but all new or replacement signs would be regulated. It is the only way to establish even ground for business competition.

Letters to the editor

PAY RAISES AN INVESTMENT

To the Editor:

I would like to offer a few reasons why the pay raises given SAD #44 teachers and administrators for next year are worth the investment, even in a tough economic time.

Concerning the raise for teachers, starting salary under the new contract still averages about $1,000 less than in towns such as Peru and Buckfield. Teachers hired under this contract may well be with us for many years. What quality of applicant would we get if we offered even less than this amount?

A similar situation exists with administrators. SAD #44 had several administrators making $5,000-7,000 less than the going competitive salaries for their position. The district is also now in the position of having to hire new principals for Andover and Woodstock. Again, what type of applicants will we attract if we have a reputation for offering rock bottom wages?

If we want competitive performances we need to offer competitive salaries.

Speaking of competitive performances, an objection was recently raised to performance no longer being a criterion for pay raises. This is not true—SAD #44's administrators have a performance-based pay factor in their salaries for next year.

The point has been made that we have no business offering large salary increases in the current economic situation. I would heartily agree if these people were making somewhere near what they should expect to make for their positions.

The fact that they have worked for years for much less than that shows they owe us nothing further in the way of salary sacrifices—they've already done their part. Now it's time for us to do ours and show that SAD #44 values people who educate kids.

MUSICAL PROMPTS KUDOS

To the Editor:

Last week's performance of " Tom Sawyer" by the Telstar Middle School prompts me to add my kudos to many others.

The leads, cast, directors, music, costumes, lighting, make-up all combined to give the audience a perfect evening's entertainment.

When this group of thespians enter Telstar High School I look forward to an active Drama Club and many more great performances.

Congratulations to all and "Break a Leg."

TEACHER PAY RAISES

To the Editor:

Seventy-one percent of the school budget is teacher salaries; 29 percent is left to run the plant, and for actual education.

A $555,805 pay raise has been added to the budget. A 51 percent raise in taxes to cover this "school budget?"

We're not talking "school" anything. We're talking pay raise. We're not talking about a thing that will benefit our kids; we're talking about salary.

Every teacher in this district makes more than the majority of us who pay their wages. Why am I not at all impressed with a 71-29 split.

When the budget cutting process begins, why do you think that old line about "hurting the kids," is going to fall on deaf ears? Why do you suppose "hey stupid" comes through loud and clear?

Who's going to be surprised when it becomes abundantly clear that we're not so dumb, after all?

Dorothy Murphy
West Bethel

[Editor's note: District officials put the overall salary and benefit increase at approximately $350,000.]

Bethel: Builders pay growth fees

Faced with a rise in tourism and second-home development, officials in this western Maine mountain town are requiring developers to assume many of the public costs of growth. They must help to pay for sewer and road construction and for the hiring of staff to review projects.

Those projects, said Town Manager Rodney Lynch, are needed to accommodate, among others, the 10,000 outside visitors on a typical ski weekend, double the number a decade ago.

A 45,600 square-foot shopping center on six acres on Route 2 is the most recent project affected. The developer, Warwick Development of Portland, Me., paid $400 for the Town Planning Board and its staff to review the plans and $500 for outside consultants on traffic and sewerage. The board approved the plan for the shopping center, which will comprise a supermarket and five other retail businesses.

For years there was virtually no growth in Bethel, with 2,400 year-round residents. But developers were drawn by the panorama of the White Mountains and the rejuvenation of the Sunday River Ski Resort in nearby Newry, Me., and in 1986 there were applications for permits for three condominium projects with a total of about 90 units. The projects have been approved, though not yet built, and about 150 houses have been built.

Town leaders had no experience with large projects but knew they would strain sewer and water services and require more roads, said Mr. Lynch. So they devised a schedule of application fees ranging from a $100 basic charge for multi-family developments and motels—plus $25 to $50 a unit—to $125 for commercial or industrial projects. In addition, the developer must pay $25 to $50 a unit for inspections on completion.

Since 1986, Bethel has received about $26,000 in such fees, which Mr. Lynch considers a boon to his $1 million yearly budget. Moreover, the town has received about $4,500 from developers to study environmental problems associated with their projects. It also charges developers to tap into the sewer system—$8.42 for every gallon a development expects to discharge in a day.

In addition, the town government now has the right to require developers to pay for improving municipal facilities that involve their projects. It cost one condominium developer about $50,000 to replace 1,200 feet of sewer lines running to his site; another spent $16,000 to widen a third of a mile of a town road leading to his project. Bethel also requires developers to place money in escrow to repair roads damaged by construction. If a developer repairs the road on his own, he gets the money back.

TOWN MANAGER RESPONDS I

To the Editor:

The purpose of this letter is to respond to Harry Faulkner's letter in the April 11, 1990 Bethel Citizen concerning the American Flag on the Common.

First, I would like to personally thank Harry for retrieving the flag and bringing it to the Town Office. His feelings concerning the American Flag and the respect that it deserves are very much appreciated by the area's veteran community. (Harry is a Vietnam-era veteran).

After Harry brought the flag in to us, I took the opportunity to have it cleaned for Memorial Day. Last Friday Public Works Foreman, Bob Pilgrim, put the flag back on the pole.

Admittedly, I should have been more speedy in getting the flag back up the pole. However, thanks to some prodding from Harry and Legionnaire Sonny Bean, the American Flag is now back in its proper location, fluttering in the wind as it overlooks the Commmon and the village. It is good to have her back.

TOWN MANAGER RESPONDS II

[This letter was written by Bethel Town Manager Rodney Lynch to Steve Wight, in response to a letter to the editor written by Wight and published in the April 11 Citizen.]

To the Editor:

I read with interest your letter to the editor in the April 11, 1990 Bethel Citizen and am enclosing for you articles on growth management planning in the Town of Bethel. Contained within the articles are a number of innovative and creative ideas, concepts, and ordinances and regulations developed by the Town of Bethel which may be helpful to the Town of Newry as you attempt to direct and control growth and development within your own borders. These articles are:

*"Development Fees Used in Bethel To Be Sure Growth Pays Its Way," Maine Townsman, March, 1990;

*"Bethel Charges Developers With Growth Costs," Maine Real Estate Update, February, 1990; and

*"Bethel, Maine Builders Pay Growth Fees," New York Sunday Times, March 25, 1990.

As you can see, Bethel is gaining a state-wide reputation as a leader in the area of small-medium size town planning, growth management planning, and raising impact and planning fees. The article in the Maine Townsman has been especially well received.

We have received a number of requests from other communities and private planning consultants for copies of the various town ordinances and regulations that were mentioned in the articles along with positive comments on our planning efforts.

If you would like copies of these ordinances and regulations for the Town of Newry, please so inform me and I will be happy to forward them to you.

In return we would appreciate it if you would share with us your experiences and ordinances and regulations which deal with hillside and mountainside condominium and subdivision development, especially as they relate to roads and adequate on-site sewage disposal, as Bethel will be facing more of these types of developments in the future.

Hopefully the towns of Bethel and Newry can continue to share planning related information.

In closing, if I can be of any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

CENSUS QUESTIONS

To the Editor:

I have one of the best jobs in town! I am a census taker. In the last three weeks I have met "The Maine Gems," that is the people of East Bethel.

Other people have asked me questions about the census and here are some answers to those questions. Be patient, a census taker will get to you soon. Each census taker has about 100 square miles or more to cover in six to eight weeks.

If your forms are not filled out yet, please do so, in pencil, and have both your phone number and address ready for us. As to the "dreaded long form," besides your form you received in the mail, there are two pages (face pages) of general information and two pages of information on each member of the house. To give you the exact time for this form is impossible, let's say under 45 minutes for a family of four. If you get in your door a form saying that one of my team members was there, please call the number written in—this is our only way of getting what we need from you without "hounding" the area. If you get this form and have a question about it call. We might be able to answer you on the phone. If you are going to be away, leave your form with a neighbor who is on the same side of the street as your house, with address and phone number.

Not one of us can force you to answer any question that you might think is too personal. No one doing this census is going to remember any information on any form (short or long) with all the houses that have to be covered! Why don't we mail them in? Portland and other places may, but we need to do it in a more personal way, the Maine way.

I have been pleasantly surprised by meeting people I know from Bethel and the area. Without a doubt, this job is very interesting. If there is a house on your road that is not used year round, please tell your census taker, he or she will be glad to know.

We do not only take your forms, but have to place your house on a map as well. If you see someone sit in their car by your house, it's probably a census taker or "list enumerator" doing their book.

When you fill out your form (in pencil), check to see that all questions are filled in, except the census box, which is our job. Thank you!

Jim Anderson, Bethel

PUTNAM IN THE RUNNING

To the Editor:

I wish to announce my candidacy for the position of selectman for the town of Bethel. I ask that you review my qualifications and consider me for the office.

In this time of technical change and requirements I believe it is desirable to have in a responsible position a person qualified to judge proposals and projects and make decisions.

My background includes the vice presidency of a corporation designing and manufacturing mechanical equipment. I am also a Lt. Col. (retired) from the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army Reserve.

My education includes a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering from the University of Maine and a Master of Science Degree in Management from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., as well as several courses in accounting and computer programming from a community college.

My family has lived in Bethel for 10 years with my daughter, Sarah, attending Telstar for one year and then graduating from Gould Academy. During most of this time I worked out of state but returned as often as possible. I am now retired and living in Bethel.

I have always felt that citizens should participate and contribute where and when they best can to the well-being of their community. In the towns where my wife Joan and I have lived previously I have tried to do this, as evidenced by the following activities.

I have been a scoutmaster, an elected planning board member, a volunteer fireman, a member of two school building committees, a member of several school study committees, and a member and president of a solid waste recycling corporation for the town of Scituate, Mass.

The town of Bethel has two major concerns I would work hard to resolve. These are the wastewater treatment plant along with the collection system and financing, and the solid waste disposal situation.

Along with these two problems I would support efforts to work closely with other town boards and committees on controlling taxes and providing services. Lastly, I will support any and all mandated programs.

If elected, I will be responsive to Bethel citizens' concerns and needs.

Bethel police report

On Thursday, April 12 at 3:54 p.m. police saw a juvenile riding a skateboard in the northbound lane of Broad Street, from just south of the Bethel Library to the intersection of Main Street. The juvenile had been previously warned, on Nov. 2, 1989. Police confiscated the skateboard, to be held until April 17.

At 11:30 a.m. police assisted a Bryant Pond resident who had locked his keys in his car at the Telstar Regional High School student parking lot.

On Tuesday, April 10 at 11:55 a.m. a Broad Street business requested extra police patrol around its grounds for the next month or so.

At 11:40 a.m. police received a request for extra patrol at a Main Street business.

On Monday, April 9 at 4 p.m. a Gilead resident reported a driver passing improperly on Route 2 near the Steam Mill at around 3:30 p.m.

At 1:40 p.m. police issued a permit to a Sunday River Road resident to move an unregistered car from Bethel to South Woodstock.

At 11:45 a.m. police received a copy of a letter to Town Manager Rodney Lynch, for imformation only, stating that the 1st Battalion, 103rd Aviation Regiment of the Vermont National Guard will be stopping for a rest at Bethel Airport on Wednesday, June 20. According to the letter, the Guard will bring 70 vehicles to the airport between 9 and 11 a.m. Activities will involve a rest stop only, and three portable latrines have been contracted for, to be located at the airport for the stop. The area will be thoroughly cleaned before the unit leaves, and calcium chloride will be spread on the airport access road and on the River Road near the airport to minimize dust.

At 11:30 a.m. an Old Orchard Beach resident reported she lost a wallet at a party in Bethel over the weekend.

At 8:45 a.m. police received a report of a bullet hole in a window at a Main Street business. Police believe the hole was made by a BB or pellet gun.

On Sunday, April 8 at 6 p.m. a West Bethel resident reported that a camp on Grover Hill had been broken into and that a hutch had been stolen.

At 4:20 a.m. while on patrol, police found a No Parking sign down, on Main Street and a route sign down and placed beside a guard rail on Cross Street.

On Friday, April 6 at 9 p.m. police received a report from Telstar Regional High School that several students were at a dance at the school. According to the caller the students were ineligible to attend the dance and police were requested to assist in getting them to leave.

Also on Friday police assisted Bethel Rescue in a call to Gould Academy where a female had fallen off a skateboard. According to police, the female broke her arm in the fall.

Car and moose collide; moose killed, driver ok

A car driven by Caroline Brooks, 68, of Bethel, collided with a moose on Route 2 in Bethel Monday evening, killing the moose and causing extensive damage to the car.

Brooks, who received mulitple bruises in the accident, was treated at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Officer Darren Tripp of the Bethel Police Department reported that Brooks was driving a 1987 Plymouth west on Route 2 in West Bethel when the moose appeared in the westbound lane, .2 miles west of the Old Road.

Tripp reported Brooks was unable to avoid the moose. When the car struck the moose it spun 180 degrees, and stopped on the south shoulder of the road, facing east. Tripp reported the moose dead at the scene.

GIVE OM A BOOST TO IOWA

To the Editor:

It isn't every day that a school team from SAD #44 earns the right to compete for a world championship. But that is exactly what six Crescent Park Students recently accomplished by winning a first-place in the Odyssey of the Mind state tournament.

These children have given a boost to all of us in this area. Let's give them a boost by helping them go to the OM World Championships in Iowa May 30-June 2. About $4,500 is needed for the six team members and two coaches to make the trip.

Some monies will be available from the district but we will need to raise more than half by donation. We are appealing to organizations, businesses and individuals for the remaining amount.

Share in the excitement—help make this trip happen—make a contribution. Not only will the team itself benefit from the experience, but it will have a positive influence on self-esteem and aspirations for all district children.

Checks should be made payable to: Crescent Park School—OM, and sent to: Walter Hatch, RFD 1, Box 1200, Bethel 04217.

MIDDLE SCHOOL MUSICAL

To the Editor:

This week I went to see the Middle School's musical production of Tom Sawyer. It was an excellent combination of songs, acting, costuming, and entertainment. I commend Mrs. Picarillo and Mrs. Davis for all the time they spent with the students.

Heather, Shye, Shane (I'm glad you aren't really like that!), Sarah, Carrie, you were very convincing in your roles! And all the actors, whether or not they had a spoken part, were so "alive" on the stage.

Thank you, Middle School drama department, for a delightful musical!

West Paris 5th graders take a trip to Boston

By Emily Cole

At 5:45 a.m. I got to school. The bus got there at 6 a.m. We got to Welchville at 6:30 a.m. We got to Kennebunk at 8 a.m. We stopped at Burger King for a break. Then we went on with our trip. We got to Boston by 10 a.m. There was a lot of traffic.

When we got to the USS Constitution we had to wait in a long line. We said the poem, Old Ironsides. Everyone liked it. After we were done we ate our lunch.

When we got to the aquarium we saw some harbor seals. When we got inside we saw some frogs and lizards. There were some penguins in the middle of the aquarium. They were cute. We saw a whole bunch of fish. I can't remember all their names. In the middle of the penguins' pool there was a tank full of a lot of different fish.

In the gift shop I bought a shirt. It has clown fish on it.

Then we saw the dolphin show. That was my favorite of all the stuff we saw. There was a dolphin named Rainbow. He was cute. And there was a California Sea Lion. His name was Muggs. When Muggs went up to get some fish, he just slid across the stage into the water again.

After the dolphin show we went to the Museum of Science. When we got in we went to the Tomson Theater of Electricity. It was loud! I got a headache.

Then we went to the Omni Theater. That was fun. They showed a racing car and it crashed. They also showed a film of the Great Coral Reef of Australia.

When we left for the school it was cold and snowy. It was a long ride. When we got to McDonald's I was hungry. It was a long ride after that too. We got to the school at 11 p.m. I got home at 11:30 p.m.

I had fun and I hope I can go again.

Children's theater set to stage 'Baldur the Good'

On Saturday, April 28, the Mahoosuc Arts Council will bring the Theater of the Enchanted Forest to the Telstar Auditorium in Bethel for one performance of "Baldur The Good," a play designed for family audiences.

This production is performed with the use of masks, and it tells the story of the God Odin and the world he created that was fated to be destroyed.

With the help of Loki the Mischief Maker, the destruction comes about when Spring does not return after the death of Baldur the Good.

Derived from the Norse Myth, this tale recounts the end of the time of the Gods, and the renewal of the world for mankind.

Theater of the Enchanted Forest is in its 16th season of production and will give over 85 performances on the 1990 Spring Maine tour.

The tour is funded in part by grants from the Maine Community Foundation, the Maine Arts Commission, and Fleet Bank.

Local funding for this performance was made possible through the continued support of the Mahoosuc Arts Council's Founding Sponsors: The Bethel Inn, Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne & Co., Gordon M. Gillies P.A., the family of Leslie B. Otten, and Dick and Wendy Penley.

The Arts Council in conjunction with Hearty Moms and the Unicorn Flower Shop would like to encourage families to attend this performance.

The first 100 grandparents or senior citizens accompanied by a child or family, will receive a carnation at the door on the evening of the performance.

Spring-term defensive driving class scheduled

The defensive driving class scheduled for this spring at Telstar High School in Bethel will be held on May 14, 16, 21 and 23, from 6:30-8:30 each evening, according to SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell.

This represents a change from the originally scheduled dates. There are spaces remaining in the Maine Bureau of Safety course, which is worth five license points. The class will be taught by Eddie Naples of the NOVA staff.

To enroll, call SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Softball squad looks to strong season

It looks like another strong season is in store for the Telstar High School softball team.

The regular season starts today on the road against Lisbon, but if the pre-season indications are to be believed, the Rebels will again be a force in the Mountain Valley Conference.

The Rebels capped up a successful pre-season last week with a double-header sweep against Traip Academy, outscoring last year's Maine State Class C champion 26 to 7 over the two games. (And Traip had earlier defeated Class B champion, York.)

Coach Jim Lunney knows better than to read too much into pre-season results, but he's pretty sure he's putting another powerful team on the field this season.

Lunney lost four quality ballplayers, including two all-staters, from last year's squad, which went 13-3, before bowing to Freeport in the Western Maine Class C quarterfinals.

But he has eight returning lettermen to call on, including six starters, and a large group of talented freshmen.

The freshmen are so strong, in fact, that Lunney expects one of them, Stacy Kangas, to be his number one pitcher. "And she might well become the best pitcher in the conference," he said.

Kangas and fellow frosh Dani Bernier can also play any other position on the field.

Such versatility will be important, since Lunney expects only two players from last year's squad will be starting today in the same positions they played last season.

Seniors Mary Beth Hannon, at second base, and Angie Jordan, in left field, will start the year on familiar turf. But everyone else, including their fellow senior co-captain Kristen Cushman, will be trying out new positions, as Lunney seeks to make the most out of his talented squad.

Returning junior starters include Kris Delano, Angie Hebert (the likely number two pitcher) and Jen Bailey.

It will take a while for the players to learn their new positions, and to fill the four out of the top five batting slots left vacant by graduation. And since pre-season preparations were also hindered by rainy weather, Lunney is telling the team not to panic if the season might start slowly.

Once things get rolling, he said "They've got a chance to be really good. If we can keep everyone healthy and eligible, we should be ready to make a very strong drive down the line."

"It's not been like that in the past," he said. "We're really pounding the ball."

Unfortunately, so have opposing batters. If the pre-season is any indication, Brown said, "We'll win a lot of games 10-9 and lose a lot 10-9."

Only one of this year's candidates, Scott Higgins, pitched at all last year, and in pre-season scrimages the Rebels' opponents have been tagging the ball pretty hard.

It helps a lot that the other half of the battery is in good shape. Brown predicted that senior Nathan Miserocchi will turn out to be "the best defensive catcher in the MVC."

"We're trying new pitchers," Brown said, "and we're having fun despite the fact that we haven't won a game yet."

With this year admittedly a rebuilding year, Brown has chosen to leave a number of talented freshmen on the JV squad.

They probably could have contributed at the varsity level, Brown said, but on the JV squad they'll get a lot more playing time together—all under the experienced eye of JV Coach Niel Olson.

Sunday's celebrations do not mark the end of local Earth Day activities. Organizers stress that if the day is to have any lasting impact, the environmental concern must become a permanent commitment.

On Friday, April 27, the Bethel Conservation Commission and SAD #44 will provide an opportunity for anyone who wishes to publicly pledge that commitment. At 1:15 p.m., community members are invited to "Join Hands for the Land," in a ceremony on Bethel Common. Information on the ceremony is available from Walter Hatch, 824-3560.

A variety of other ongoing activities are planned by local environmental and community groups.

MUSICIAN NANCY DAY SHOW AT BATES COLLEGE APRIL 28

In recognition of Sexual Assault Awareness Weekend, the Sexual Assault Crisis Center of Androscoggin County will be presenting Nancy Day, an award-winning Pittsburgh composer-performer.

Day is a survivor of sexual assault and, in turn, has composed music that cuts to the core of this psychologically jarring experience.

Day's performance will be on Saturday, April 28 at 8 p.m. at the Bates College Chapel on College Street in Lewiston, and will include a variety of musical styles—jazz, pop, blues, rock and roll, and ballads.

The event is being sponsored by the Sexual Assault Response Line at Bates College and is being presented by the Sexual Assault Crisis Center of Androscoggin County.

Ticket prices are $8 in advance and $10 at the door. Advance tickets can be purchased at Victor News at 59 Park Street in Lewiston, and at three Shop 'n Save locations: 449 Sabattus Street in Lewiston, 95 Spring Street in Auburn, and 551 Center Street in Auburn.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Sexual Assault Crisis Center Office at 784-5272.

PRINCIPAL'S AWARD—Senior Stephanie Percival, of Andover, was the recipient of this year's MSSPA Principals' Award at Telstar High School, presented here by Telstar Regional High School Principal Ted Davis. The award, sponsored by the Maine Secondary School Principals' Association, recognizes academic achievement and citizenship.

Stephanie Percival of Andover receives 1990 Principals' Award

Stephanie Percival of Andover, a senior at Telstar High School, has been selected to receive the 1990 Principal's Award, Principal Theodore R. Davis announced today. The award, sponsored by the Maine Secondary School Principals' Association, is given in recognition of a high school senior's academic achievement and citizenship.

"Through her years at Telstar High School, Stephanie has distinguished herself in the classroom, in the field of sports, and as a leader in the school and the community," Principal Theodore Davis noted in making the award.

Percival, Davis and other award winners and their principals attended an Honors Luncheon at the Bangor Civic Center on Saturday, April 7 at 1 p.m.

The Honor Luncheon recognizes these outstanding students with the presentation of an individual plaque and the selection of the Horace O. McGowan Scholarship recipient.

The $1,000 McGowan Scholarship is given by the MSSPA in honor of the Association's past executive director and will be presented by McGowan.

The Principal's Award is presented in more than 140 Maine public and private high schools by member principals of the MSSPA, the professional association which represents Maine's secondary school principals.

Former U.S. Ski Team coach speaks at Gould sports dinner

Bob Harkins, former director of Junior Development for the U.S. Ski Team, gave the keynote address at Gould Academy's winter sports banquet last week, prior to the presentation of sports awards to members of the winter teams.

A former Gould head ski coach and director of athletics, Harkins jokingly recalled standing before the winter athletic banquet some 15 years ago, and introducing the speaker.

It was the satisfaction of coaching the Gould ski teams in that era, said Harkins, that gave him the inspiration to continue on to the national and international coaching assignments which followed his tenure in Bethel.

"What I really want to tell you about the athletes on the U.S. team," said Harkins to the Gould team members, "is that they are no different from you. What separates the most successful athletes from the rest is the amount of focus and dedication that they bring to their sports."

Several Gould coaches have later become U.S. Ski Team coaches, including former head coach and athletic director Tim LaVallee, current head coach of the University of Colorado.

Harkins now works in mountain operations at Sunday River.

Athletic Director Susan Gardner congratulated the teams on successful seasons, including the men's basketball team's 11-4 league record, the second place finishes for the alpine team at the New England Prep School Championships, and the cross-country team sweep of both the men's and the women's events at the New Englands.

Individuals award winners were:

Women's Basketball—Most improved: Mika Cross; Sportsmanship: Chrissy Packard, Maine All Star Team: Joana Donaldson; 1991 captains: Chrissy Packard, Jen Barstow; JV Award: Kate Callahan.

Varsity Men's Basketball—Most Improved: Bizmark Ramirez; Sportsmanship: Wayne Carter; MAISAD All-Star Team: Lee Roberto, Tom Pena; Charles Hurd Award: Tom Pena; JV Award: Jason Portal.

Women's "A" Ski Team—Most Improved: Sara Kailey.

Men's "A" Ski Team—Most Improved: Jason Boyd, Willie Somma; Sportsmanship: Monika Burk, Brian Lavoie.

Children, adults: 'Join Hands for the Land' on Bethel Common April 27

On April 27 on the Bethel Common at 1:30 p.m., the Friday after Earth Day, come join hands and voices with school children to demonstrate community support for Earth Day and the environment.

The goal is to join at least 1990 hands. Come individually or as a group (church, club, organization).

Join Hands for the Land is sponsored by the Bethel Conservation Commission in cooperation with SAD #44.

This event will culminate a full day of Earth Day related activities planned for Crescent Park students, and similar activities that day by Ethel Bisbee students.

The children will all leave their schools at 1:15 p.m., walk to the Bethel Common (led by the Telstar Band) and join hands in a circle around the Common, along with the public at 1:30 p.m.

The simple ceremony will consist of a welcome by the Conservation Commission and Crescent Park teachers, group singing of "America the Beautiful" with accompaniment by Telstar band, group singing of "This Land is Your Land" led by Crescent Park students and their music director and a closing message by a local pastor.

Members of the Conservation Commission hope that a large number of people will participate in this short ceremony to show community spirit for protecting the environment.

Bethel Senior Citizens enjoy Boy Scout fete

Over 50 Senior Citizens were honored recently and pleased to be entertained and dined by the local Boy Scout Troop.

Scoutmaster Harrington and Scout Ryan Bernier, assisted by 20 other scouts and assistants made the day before Easter a very special occasion. Cheers, skits, and group singing were enjoyed as well as the delicious dinner. Ten prizes donated by local merchants were gratefully received.

A warm and joyous occasion was enjoyed by young and old at the Masonic dining hall.

Greenwood summer ball teams sign up April 24

The Greenwood Recreation Committee has announced that sign-up for summer baseball and softball programs in Greenwood will be held at the Town Office on Tuesday, April 24, from 6:30-8 p.m.

This is for all residents ages six through adult. More information is available by calling Denise Adams at 527-2180.

Rick Charette show to raise money to fight child abuse

On Saturday, April 28, popular performer Rick Charette will be "on stage" at the Rowe School Gymnasium in Norway with a "Super Power" program of original compositions to touch the minds and hearts of children.

The Oxford County program on "Sexual Assault Awareness Weekend" is sponsored by the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Council at Community Concepts and the Rape Education and Crisis Hotline (R.E.A.C.H.). The two community organizations work closely together for the health, safety and well-being of children.

Typical "Super Power" songs, says Charette, will include "My Body Belongs to Me"—"Trust Your Feelings"—"I Have Somebody I Can Trust."

Charette, a popular Maine children's performer, successfully reaches young people through his music and lyrics.

The "Super Power" performance begins at 1 p.m. Tickets are available through advanced sales only. Tickets may be purchased at Books-n-Things Oxford, Snee Music in Norway or by calling either R.E.A.C.H. at 743-9777, or Oxford County Child Abuse Council, Community Concept at 743-7716.

Donna Richard, Child Abuse and Neglect Coordinator, and Debbie Dembski R.E.A.C.H. Director invite the community to support this effort to raise children's self-esteem and increase their personal safety skills while having fun!

MAINE JAZZ/FUSION QUINTET—with Thomas Hoffmann will perform on Mud Day, Saturday, April 21 at the Telstar High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets for the performance are $5 for adults and $2 for students. Proceeds will benefit the Mahoosuc Land Trust.

Spring arts programs set for SAD #44 schools

As spring attempts to work its way into Western Maine, several assembly programs are being sponsored in the SAD #44 schools thanks to the coordinated efforts of the Mahoosuc Arts Council and Gould Academy's Performing Arts Series.

On April 23, the Arts Council will be sponsoring guitarist and songwriter Steve Schuch at the Ethel Bisbee School. Schuch will share his songs about nature as part of the school's Earth Day celebration. He will also give a performance to benefit the Mahoosuc Land Trust on Sunday, April 22 in the Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy.

On May 3, the Atlantic Clarion Steel Band will be in Bethel to perform as part of the Gould Academy's Performing Arts Series. During the day, the Mahoosuc Arts Council will sponsor the Steel Band's assembly programs for Telstar students. The band will also give workshop presentations for the district's sixth grade students.

The last Mahoosuc Arts Program in the Schools performance will take place on May 18 when the traditional duo of Old Grey Goose will spend the day at the Andover Elementary School giving workshops and playing for a community contra dance at 7 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Tickets for the dance may be purchased by calling the Andover school at 392-4381.

These programs are made possible thanks to the continued support of the Mahoosuc Arts Council's Founding sponsors: The Bethel Inn, The Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne & Co., Gordon M. Gillies P.A., the family of Leslie B. Otten, and Dick and Wendy Penley.

For more information concerning upcoming events, you are encouraged to call the Mahoosuc Arts' office at 824-3575.

West Paris coffeehouse continues on April 20

The monthly coffeehouse sponsored by the First Universalist Church of West Paris is set for Friday, April 20 at 8 p.m. The coffeehouse features the contemporary folk music of "house musician" Don Rollins, as well as an open stage segment for area poets, musicians and other performing artists.

Half of the $1 door charge goes to support the Oxford Hills Food Pantry in Norway. Refreshments are also available at the coffeehouse. The West Paris Coffeehouse is a chemical-free environment.

By VIVA WHITMAN

What a dismal rainy morning it is that welcomes us to the day, Wednesday. It was raining every time I woke up in the night and sure looks like a wet world out there. One might get water logged if they don't look out.

We haven't seen the sun too much in the last week so will be glad if this gets over and we get some good weather for a change. April showers make May flowers as the saying goes but how many showers does it take?

Don't know if I mentioned in last week's news that Peggy went to Portland on Tuesday for a meeting of the card people she works for at the LaVerdiere's stores in South Paris and Bridgton or not. She did anyway and had a good day.

She was here to take me to the doctor's on Wednesday for my usual back treatment. She keeps busy with many things. Also went to Pomona Grange meeting at Lakeside Grange in Harrison in the evening and Russell went with her.

Thursday evening she went to West Paris Grange to help out if needed and while in the Grange Hall someone ran into her car sitting outside. Thank goodness they were good enough to stay around and find her to let her know that it had taken place. A young fellow was backing from across the road and wasn't watching in all directions and hit her car so she has to have a new fender and I don't know what else. Of course he didn't have any insurance and that makes it bad. I was of the impression that it was not legal to drive without insurance on one's car but some evidently get away with it. It should be easier for those who are young and can work to have insurance much easier than those of us who are not able to work and earn money. With everything going up it is mighty hard to get by when one can't work and has to depend on Social Security to pay for all that is required. How I wish I was able to work now as I need a different car but can't swing it on what Social Security I get so wonder what I will do when this car won't go anymore and that won't be long the way it is starting to rust.

Went for groceries and errands on Friday as well as going to the doctor again. I had been sick since Wednesday afternoon.

Saturday night was dancing at West Paris and Peggy and Russell went. I keep hoping my legs will get better so I can go but they still disappoint me at all turns it seems.

I was looking forward to Sunday and with good reason. Five of us went to the show at Oxford Hills High School Auditorium "The Sound of Music" and what a show it was. One never realizes how much talent there is around them until something like that comes up and you go to see it. What singers there are in the surrounding areas and they can act as well as sing. It was simply wonderful and I can't praise them enough. When it was over they all got a standing ovation and deserved every bit of it. They had been let known that they were appreciated during the show after each performance but this was even greater and must have made them feel good about their performances. The scenes were changed so fast and with such dexterity that it didn't matter that it was done in semi-darkness so one could see it being done. All I can say is that it was a show that I am certainly glad I had the opportunity to see. What a show!

We were told Thursday night there were about 30 seats that were not taken but Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, all seats were taken and they could have sold more on Sunday if there had been any.

Charlotte Cole, Vera Cross, Bertha Benoit, Peggy, Russell and I all went to the show in one car. When we got there there was plenty of parking but we were early and when it was time for the show to begin, there were a lot of folks that hadn't gotten in to their seats so it was a little late starting. Wish you had all gone and seen the production. It was great.

Monday was the day this week that Peggy went to do her cards in the stores as I had a doctor's appointment on Tuesday that she was taking me to. As she was gone, I took Russell to town to get some things done. I can drive to town but not any distances with these old legs acting out. Don't feel safe trying and it is most painful to try at times.

Yesterday, Tuesday, Peggy took me to the doctor's and then home. She had a meeting in the afternoon at Olive Davis's home and Olive Risco was there also. They were doing some planning for things where the grange is concerned. Hope they have good luck carrying out whatever they came up with.

One could go to Grange just about every night if they so desired and didn't mind traveling.

While in town Monday, Russell got the numbers for our new address that the Post Office has given out to us. He plans to put the numbers over the mail box so they can be seen which is a great idea. We have known we lived on High Street but it will become the new address instead of R.R. 1 and have a number, 194 for us. Hope everyone gets their addresses changed all right. It is a job to try to remember who and all of who they are to let know. Guess it will all come out in the wash but the Post Office will sure have a time for awhile with both addresses coming in. I don't envy them at all.

Time to go get busy so will say take care and have a good week one and all.

FACT SHEET LISTS EFFECTS OF POST-HARVEST PESTICIDES

The Maine Organic Farmers and Gardeners Association's (MOFGA) Post-Harvest Pesticide Fact Sheet gives consumers detailed information about uses and potential health effects of chemicals applied to fresh produce after harvest.

Under Maine's new post-harvest labeling rules which went into effect last month, grocery stores are required to let consumers know within 48 hours which items of produce have been treated with which post-harvest chemicals. Stores must also post a sign indicating that post-harvest chemical treatments have been used.

"MOFGA is publishing the fact sheet for consumers who want information beyond the chemical names of post-harvest treatments, says Nancy Ross, MOFGA executive director. MOFGA will send a copy free to anyone who sends a stamped self-addressed envelope.

The MOFGA fact sheet lists both common and trade names of chemicals, the crops on which they are used, whether or not residues are found, toxicity level, carcinogenicity classification, reproductive and birth defects, and other health considerations. The sheet specifies when information is unknown.

" The health risk from post-harvest treatment is low," says Ross, "but given the choice, people may prefer produce what is untreated after harvest. The only purpose of the post-harvest chemicals is to make food less perishable—to increase storage time, allow food to travel long distances and stay on the shelf for longer periods."

Another new Maine law initiated by MOFGA requires stores to post country of origin signs on produce that comes from countries that allow pesticides and pesticide dosages banned in the U.S. Information on the countries for which labeling is required is available in grocery stores in brochures printed by the Maine Department of Agriculture.

"What the new labeling laws do," says Ross, "is give consumers the opportunity to make more informed choices in shopping for produce. If consumers decide they prefer locally grown food in season, all Maine farmers will benefit."

ASSERTIVENESS TRAINING SET FOR DISPLACED HOMEMAKERS

Transitions, a Displaced Homemakers program, will offer an eight-week Assertiveness Training program at the Norway Key Bank on Fridays from 9 a.m.-noon, beginning April 13.

1990 STATE OPEN WATER FISHING RULE CHANGES

With the opening of the 1990 fishing season on April 1, the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife is alerting anglers to several changes in Maine's fishing regulations.

One major change affecting fishing statewide is a reduction in the limit on brown trout and rainbow trout from three fish to two fish daily, according to Peter Bourque, director of the Fisheries and Hatcheries Division.

Bourque also reminds anglers of reductions in the recommended consumption levels of fish caught in several Maine rivers due to levels of (TCDD) dioxin concentration in fish.

The new determinations were not made in time to appear in the current fishing regulations booklet, which still contains the former recommended consumption levels.

The departments of Human Services, Environmental Protection and Inland Fisheries and Wildlife announced recently that new data indicates that pregnant women and nursing mothers should not eat fish caught in the Androscoggin, Kennebec, Presumpscot, Sebasticook and Penobscot rivers.

The general public was advised to eat no more than two fish meals a year from the Androscoggin River and five meals a year from the Kennebeck River below Skowhegan.

Bourque also notes several significant fishing regulation changes affecting local waters in various parts of the state.

Anglers are advised to check their fishing law book for details. Some of the more importants changes follow: Fisheries Region A (Southwestern Maine)—Sebago Lake, one salmon limit; Pleasant River, catch and release fishing only from Route 302 to River Road, Ossipee River, artificial lures; one trout limit, from Kezar Falls to Warren's Bridge.

Fisheries Region D (Rangeley Region)—South Bog Stream, Rangeley Plantation—fly fishing only; catch and release; (only a portion of this stream has this regulation).

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Paul;

We won't be able to join you at the rude bridge as planned. Our commitments here preclude our traveling to Concord to participate in the call to arms, despite our inclination to the contrary. You and the stout fellows of Watertown and Cambridge and Lexington and the surrounding villages will have to muddle through without us. Mud season is upon us; the wagon wheels are muck to the hubs, and the horses are too old to make the trip. Otherwise we'd be only too anxious to help you stave off the pesky Redcoats.

Some of our local youth have been training for just such a challenge as that which you face. David Hanscom and his classmates recently braved the wilds in a unique experiment in resourcefulness, cooperation, and stamina. The Telstar team of nine students, one faculty member and one Outward Bound advisor (one of several such groups to participate) shackeled themselves to snowshoes, hoisted their packs, and headed into the woods near the Pleasant River. The objective: the summit of Caribou Mountain; the underlying goal: developing respect for teamwork.

With the "advisors" bringing up the rear, and falling further behind (deliberately) as the hours wore into days, the group chopped away the impediments as they blazed their way to the top. Relying on maps, compasses, and the collective intelligence, the "Pokey Bushwackers" made their way slowly toward their objective, made decisions for the good of the group as they went along, and made camp in the snow for the long, dark nights. Evening campfire discussions provided time for reviews of the day's activities, analysis of the group dynamics, and their own version of comic relief.

David reports that the trek provided interesting insights into the potential of people, as classmates who were not necessarily friends at the outset, learned to collaborate, to depend on each other, to help one another in their common assignment. As they matched wits with Mother Nature, they set aside their individual needs in favor of satisfying the group needs. They learned to be patient, calm, and trusting, as they fought tension with humor. From the sound of things, the group managed much more than mere survival.

As we move ever so slowly into spring, we see signs of survival in every corner of our mountain village. The varieties of birds at the feeders and on the wires has increased dramatically. Hawks perch in perusal of the fields once more; robins gather in great numbers on lawns along the Flat Road. Folks are busy spring-cleaning the bluebird houses in anticipation of the arrival of that special breed. The goldfinches are a wonderful gold again, and the morning stillness is broken (now even earlier than we plan to arise) by the chattering of the entire population of cow-birds, red-winged blackbirds, blue-jays, and grackles.

There is a sense of urgency in the "spring cleaning" at the West Bethel Union Church. Members met last week for the Annual Meeting to approve their new budget, to enjoy a turkey dinner (prepared by the menfolk, with Arthur Gilbert as chief chef), and to name their leaders for the coming year. The shepherd of the flock is to be replaced as Norman Rust bids farewell to his pastoral duties after a 10 year tenure. The ensuing break in continuity is sure to engender a separation anxiety that will have to be addressed as the search committee presents potential candidates to the congregation. It's never easy to fill "the shoes of the fisher-man."

The landladies of said chapel also met last week to dispense with the month's business. They addressed an agenda filled with such matters as, who would attend the luncheon at Andover on Wednesday, who would be on hand to "do lunch" for the churchwomen of Bethel on the next Wednesday, who would serve as greeter for the Sundays in April and early May, and who would check certain earlobes for telltale holes (the latter being the most important assignment in light of upcoming activities... more later).

So friend patriot, as you rush through the streets shouting your warning, we'll be thinking of you. But we'll be focusing upon another odyssey as well. A group of young thinkers has captured a blue ribbon in the state-wide Odyssey of the Mind competition. Martha Grover, happy resident of the unorganized township next door, is a member of the winning team and is about to embark on adventure number four-o-two, the national championship meet in Iowa. In the next few weeks, we as a community will have as our "super-ordinate goal" the happy task of raising funds to assist with the expenses of the trip.

We hope that your "trip" will be a success, oh wearer of the tricorn. If we get free of the mire, maybe we can get there in time to help with the fray. We'll look for the signal in the bellfry...Now, let's see...was it one or two, if by land...Whatever...Dominus vobiscum.

Love, C.B.

A sense of humor: that which makes you laugh at something which would make you mad if it happened to you.

Much of the logging has stopped here because roads are banned. It remains unseasonably cold and roads are firm but regulations are often used for purposes other than originally intended.

The crocus aren't sticking their small pretty blossoms very high. Perhaps they'd like to shrink back into their warm beds, but someone told them it was spring.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

Friday the 13th and about as good day as we have had all week. Yesterday we had snow squalls off and on. Had to take Frank to Harrison today to meet Dick Chapman as they were going to Benedicta for the long weekend. I told them as cold as it is they would probably bring home more fish tales than fish with tails. As long as I was over that way stopped in to see Aunt Bertha and Uncle Merritt Kimball at South Waterford. Got there when they were eating their dinner so sat down and ate with them. Before I got married, Aunt Bertha and I were very close but after I had the five boys we just didn't get together much.

If you looked for my column last week, I did send it in. It did get typed but never proofread or printed. I called to see if they did get it and they did remember typing it but somehow it got erased before it got typed. Can't remember much but do know that I wrote about Frank, I, Kristen, and James William going to Readfield on April 3. On way down we went by a field with 100 or more Canadian geese and some ducks. All gone on our way back. James William is six days younger than Marion's (my sister's) grandson, Trevor. We had been going to get together for some time but either sickness and weather had stopped. Hazel Tucker, Marion's mother-in-law had passed away on Tuesday but Marion said to come along anyway.

Tuesday, April 10, Frankie and I had to go to Rumford on business. On April 11, Frank and I had to go to Gorham, N.H., for more fishing gear. Dick Chapman had come on April 7 and told Frank quite a few more things he would have to buy. On my way in from town on April 9, stopped into the first house on road as I had not as yet gotten her name which was Susan Ratford. Seemed as though every time I'd go by was either too busy or her car wasn't there.

Frank and Sid Murphy had for skiers on April 4 and 5 their nephew David Greenberg and his friend, Eric Dube, both of Dover, N.H. Guess the boys said that this would be their last skiing trip this spring.

March 31, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowski and children Melissa and Matthew of Gorham, N.H., visited Frank and Sid Murphy.

On April 1, Victor and Judy Coolidge went to Colebrook, N.H., to her Uncle John and Connie Angevine and the three girls stayed with their grandparents, Ernest and Alberta Angevine.

George, Betty Gilbert and Betty's mother, Grace Morrill went to Hebron on April 8 to Betty's cousin, Bob and Annette Clough's 50th wedding anniversary.

On April 31, Chuck, Kathie Mason and family and Joe and Gerry Shimamura had students from Eastern Nazarene College spend the night. Mason's had three students and Shimamura's had two.

Bill Shimamura and son Justin spent the last weekend of March with Bill's parents, Joe and Gerry Shimamura. Justin was 10 years old April 1. Saturday before Joe took his grandson to Sunday River Skiing and after Church services Sunday they all went to the Yokahama at Gorham, N.H.

We offer our sympathy to the John Laban family on the death of Sue's father, Joseph Casey on April 9. The Casey's were from Massachusetts.

On April 8, Dan and Anita Gibbs had supper with Dan's mother, Madeleine Gibbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Anderson's son, Brian has been accepted to Washington County Technical College at Calais, Maine.

On April 9, Charlie and Ruth Mason went to Togus for his checkup and then visited their daughter, Terry Blake and girls at Augusta.

Howard, Macki, Nick and Sammy Chapman, Sandy Mahon and Pip and Ada Cummings went to the Pocono's in Pennsylvania and spent four days. They stayed at Mountain Manor. Frank and Ida Chapman met the rest there coming up from Florida. They all enjoyed themselves playing golf. Frank and Ida Chapman are now at their home on Chapman Hill.

On April 1, Dr. Leonard, Becky, Jon and Jen Shaw had as guests Bob and Ginny Keniston, Bethel, David, Jody, Heath, and Heather Keniston, Norway and Peter, Stacey and Elise Keniston, Turner. This was in celebration of Bob and Ginny's 46th wedding anniversary.

On April 11, Elsie Davis turned 85. Her daughter Ginny Keniston made a cake and family members stopped in during the day to visit. Among those were Becky Shaw, her granddaughter and Shaw twins, Jon and Jen.

Visitors this week at Joe and Muriel Gilbert's have been: Father Albert Colpitts; Irene and Lew Charest, Lewiston; Jean Collet, Sebago; Pauline St. Peter, South Portland; James Gilbert and Jen, Westbrook; Kay McMillin, Bethel; Evelyn Kimball, Albany; Don Hayner, Warren and Donna Merrill, Leah Deegan, Florence Beck and myself, West Greenwood.

Marion Soule, Palermo, stayed with Leah Deegan from Monday to Wednesday.

Heard Bob Deegan out getting the rototiller warmed up. This soil was still too wet when I checked it a few days ago and we are supposed to get rain tomorrow, so it doesn't look like I will get any tilling done this weekend. Bob will have peas up before we get any planted.

Spring is springing. The kids around here have their bicycles and kites out and I have heard frogs croaking about the icy waters.

Larry and Karen Hill, Norway, have stopped by a couple of times recently.

At Andover...

Calvary Congregational Church

During Sunday School on April 8, all classes were invited by the junior class to view their display of the City of Jerusalem which they assembled. It was pointed out where Jesus took His earthly journey through the city, and ended where He gave His life on calvary to redeem mankind.

Rev. Donald Grover's message was "Why Palm Sunday?" It was to fulfill the scriptures, as was prophesied.

The choir sang: " He Stayed on the Cross for Me." My Savior was nailed that day a debt of my sins to pay.

Missionary moments included letters shared from Bill Gill serving in the navy and his experiences traveling in the South Pacific and parts of Asia. Also, Paul and Penny Waite are preparing to leave for New Zealand as missionaries.

Mrs. Winona Verrill of South Paris was an afternoon visitor of Mrs. Elmira Doyen Saturday for the late afternoon and evening. Marjorie and Hugh Awalt of Augusta came and brought supper.

Mrs. Nancy Davis returned home last weekend after being called to Texas where her father underwent open heart surgery. Mr. and Mrs. Hill of Dallas have visited their daughter and family here several times.

Peter Parsons and daughter Kathy returned to their home in Hebron, Conn., Friday after spending a few days this week with his parents and enjoying some spring skiing.

Barbara Johnson and friend of Windsor and Mrs. Marjorie Awalt of Augusta were luncheon guests of Mrs. Elmira Doyen Friday. Connie and Mark Hindman also joined them. He did some raking for his grandmother.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank my friends and family and neighbors for all the help and support they gave me while I was in the hospital and since my return home. The flowers and cards were beautiful and helped make my stay at the hospital more pleasant.

TRI-TOWN VARIETY—George Hayes presented a check for $500 to Tri-Town Rescue at the third annual variety show staged by Tri-Town last Friday and Saturday night at the Agnes Gray School in West Paris. Hayes made the presentation, courtesy of the Greenstock Snowmobile Club, from money raised by the club at its snowmobile rally last winter. Proceeds from the variety show will be used to help buy a defibrillator for Tri-Town.

Judith Grover Tent #17 met on Monday, April 9 for a regular meeting with 14 members present. Elsie Bonney filled in as Patriotic Instructor and Kathleen McAllister as Color Bearer #1. It was voted not to have our annual sale this May as we have so many sick members. We will have a food sale later, at Littlefield Beaches and a foodless bake sale. Next meeting will be May 14 when we will fix flowers for Memorial. There will be a tasting party. Sick members reported were Andrea Hoyt, Althea Stevens, Ruth Dunham, Alice Wardwell and Elaine Estes. Forty-six calls were reported. After the meeting a silent auction was held, the money to go to Gallandet School for the Deaf awards and the Military School awards. Refreshments were served by Beatrice Farnum and Alice Hoyt.

The Historical Society has a small collection of books by Maine authors. Larry Billings has given the Historical Society quite a number of books and antiques over the past few months.

Phyllis and Reynold Jordan, Vance and Delia Jordan and Burton Hathaway were supper guests of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway one evening last week. Lawrence and Harriett Estes called one evening on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Today, unlike others we have had lately, dawned in a most grandiose and spectacular manner, which proves that if one waits long enough, gorgeous days do arrive. The entire eastern sky shimmered orange and pink. The pond reflected from shore to shore.

Two adult ducks flapped and skitted on the water then finally darted into a small cove at the waters edge on the back shore. The pond was high so all the alders and other bushes had wet feet.

A gloomy raven flew over uttering its customary complaint against the world. I looked down-pond not yet wholly free from ice. But down from the hills, the Sanborn River tumbled and glided through its valley. Fir, spruce, pine, oak and birch blanket the slopes and press close against the alders that overhang the stream. It has long slow stretches, where the water is placid. There are but a few white-water rapids, roaring falls and swirling pools.

It's a quiet valley, presenting more of forests than tilled land.

Henry Thoreau wrote, "who hears the rippling of the rivers will not utterly despair of anything."

I stood looking around the valley into this world of stillness. I found myself beginning to wonder about the country sounds, which would presently arise and break the quietness. There was a promise of a fine day and it was. I enjoyed it in many ways.

Now, as I have settled down to write with the lights glowing and the planets crossing the sky, I think of the confused violence of our time. It is the unconscious search of man for his own natural happiness. Does he not know that he must have some sense of the joy in living? That is one of the most serious things in the world.

The cold world is looking forward to spring. I am, too.

Lillian Strait and children of Freeport visited her mother, Rena Curtis, this week. Her son Walter of Farmington also called on her and there were several friends.

At the Holt Farm there were David, Sally, and Mary Holt, Ann Holt and Dolly Verrill of Norway. After Church I had dinner with my cousin, Lettie Brooks then she and I went to see "The Sound of Music" at O.H.H.S. It was a beautiful show.

Denise Adams and children called on me one day this week and so did Rena Curtis.

The blue heron or as we call him "The Greenwood City Eagle" is back. I saw him standing in the water on the back shore this morning and as it was just 20 degrees and the wind blowing the thought of it made me shiver.

Sunday, April 8, Mary Smith and I went to the Chef's Table for the special Ham Easter Dinner for the senior citizens, a lot of people there.

Tuesday, April 10, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher went to Massachusetts to bring his sister Fannie Whitten for a visit.

Monday, April 9, there was a community club meeting at Joe Vatcher's. It was decided to have our first supper on April 28. Beans, hot dishes, salads, biscuits, rolls, pies.

Tuesday, April 10, Marietta Penley and I took Howard Anderson to Berlin, N.H. We ate at Northland and did some shopping. It rained all day.

Phil Hyams fixed my cuckoo clock and brought it back. Seems good to have it back. The kids like to wait for the cuckoo to come out.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spencer and family have moved back to the trailer for good.

Sympathy goes to the family of "Bill" Gibbs, a former North Paris resident.

Thursday, April 12, I went to Oxford County Citizens dinner at South Paris fire hall. It was a delicious ham dinner with all the fixings. Plenty for everyone. Fifty seven were there. Richard Felt and Co. played for the dancing.

Thursday there were some snow flurries everywhere. Today, Friday it is chilly this morning.

Happy Easter to everyone.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary will meet Tuesday, April 24, at 6:30 p.m. at the fire station.

The old time dance, sponsored by the Greenwood Historical Society, will be held Sat., April 28, from 8 p.m. to 12 at the Locke Mills Town Hall.

Charlotte Cole has had a busy week. She went to Rutland, Vt., one day with Daniel Cole and a friend to visit Verna Sterling, an old time friend. She said they had a foggy drizzly ride. She and Vera Cross attended the "Sound of Music" in South Paris Sunday afternoon. Her nephew Elton Cole was in the production. Friday night she attended the Tri-Town talent show in West Paris. And she and Jennie Heywood were in Rumford Wednesday where they went to lunch at Cozy Inn and provided music. They will be going to the Rumford Methodist Church Thursday to help with the program.

Bertha Flanders planned to have Easter dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morse in Rumford, she attended the Boy Scout dinner Saturday in Bethel and the installation at the Jefferson Chapter, OES, in Bryant Pond Saturday evening.

Nellie Swan, Paris Hill, had lunch with Vera Cross Saturday. Vera took Lora Noyes to the doctor the other day and the car conked out on High Street and she had to be towed home. She also visited Rodney Cross at Stephens Memorial Hospital and Charlotte Brett who also was a patient there.

Newry

By GIL SEELEY

The Newry Ladies Circle are invited to attend a luncheon at the West Bethel Church on April 25 at 10:30 a.m. There will be a slide show for entertainment.

A food sale is planned for May 18, 9:30 a.m. at the I.G.A. in Bethel put up by the Newry Community Church Ladies Circle. Contributions are very welcome.

We have received word that Amy Hanscom went back to the hospital again for a stay. We hope that she will be okay.

The mourning doves are back. Other names for them are "wild dove and turtle dove." Their nests are poorly constructed, just a handful of twigs thrown together so loosely that the eggs are in danger of rolling out... It is one of the most useful of birds, it feeds on weed seeds, insects and grasshoppers, but also eats vegetables... so watch out you pea pickers, they have been accused of picking peas too.

The Newry Community Church held their first service of the season on Sunday, April 8, with Pastor Rodney Hanscom leading with the message "Prepare ye the way," and inspirations from Isaiah 50: 4-9a, Phillipians 2: 5-11 and St. Matthew 21: 1-11. Nancy was at the organ.

Ruth Cummings called last Friday and said she had been ill with the flu but was getting better and was making some goodies for the bake sale at the Shop 'n Save for the benefit of the Cozy Inn Nursing Home. She also told me that the old Hanscom homestead had been sold to Randy and Audrey Brooke.

Thanks for reading my column Lorraine, April is National Humor Month, remember? I am glad you found some humor in it.

The Newry Mother's Club held their meeting April 9 at the Municipal Building with Cindy Moxcey presiding with 13 members present. The opening prayer was read by Gil Seeley. Neither the secretary nor the treasurer were present so the president took notes and acted on their behalf. Sunshine lady Olive Anderson reported on sending cards to the shut-ins, etc. It was voted to donate a sum of money instead of food for the food sale and Cindy is already collecting some of the money. The cook book is coming along fine and the president wishes that all the recipes will be in by September at the latest. Nancy Wight was asked to check on the kids trip planned in June and report at the next meeting. Also a discussion on where the annual banquet will be held in June, a vote on that will be next month. An auction will be conducted also at that meeting with Betsy Clark as auctioneer to raise some money for the club, and the trip. The mystery prize was won by Mary Morin. Birthday greetings to Olive Anderson. Refreshment committee for next month will be Nancy Wight, Cindy Moxcey and Gil Seeley, May 14. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by Karlene, Betsy and Sylvia. A personality test was conducted during the social hour by Sue Taylor, it was a very interesting one and very informative like a combination of questions and answers like the great swiss psychologist Cal G. Jung used in making certain determinations as to predict harmony or conflict between personalities. We thank Sue for such an entertaining hour.

Bill and Sylvia Wight are back from their trip to Washington, D.C., where they spent a few days visiting around and enjoying the beautiful flowers that were in bloom there.

June Swan brought me a souvenir from Ireland, a beautiful scarf, my favorite addition to a costume. Thank you June!

Bowling this week were Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Sylvia Wight, Eleanor Davis, Bea Lowell, Olive Anderson and Thelma Lowery who came from Gorham, N.H., to be with her friends. Rena Powers was a guest. Karlene was high on the singles with one string of 105, also high on the triples.

June Swan, chairlady for Maine Street '90 held a meeting Tuesday, April 10, at the Municipal Building with Sylvia Wight, Steve Wight, Mary Morin, Kevin Slater, Mary Tripp, and Gil Seeley. Plans were made for a very busy summer, and things are shaping up real nice and hope the townspeople of Newry will get together and bring great pride to our little town. June will have more to say on the program somewhere else in the paper.

There is a hassle in Maine about having a lotto to balance the budget which reminds me of this little story I read somewhere. "Republicans have a hard time winning anything in Hawaii, even a cockroach race. They were defeated in the last two races so President Bush is hoping a kinder, gentler cockroach will reverse his fortune in the Iolani School's annual roach race in Honolulu. The names of their entries were "Yellow Roach of Texas" and "Oval Office Roach" but Bush has high hopes for a bug named "Kinder, Gentler." The money raised by the event will be used to fight multiple sclerosis, a disease that afflicts an estimated 250,000 Americans. Now why can't we have something like that. We could use "Kinder, Gentler Coons" maybe?

So. Woodstock

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nowlin spent part of the week with Mrs. Nowlin's mother, Esther Davis. They were up from Florida. Diane Fisher was there also. A dinner was held for them. Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin, Pat Tibbetts, Ethel Twitchell, Edith Deegan, Alice Deegan, Jackie Tibbetts, Tim Kennagh, Jerry Shorey, and Betty Ryan partook of the dinner. Some others came in the evening. Ice cream pie and banana bread were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Nowlin and Diane Fisher spent the last part of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin at Newry returning home the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, Bertha Benoit and I attended South Paris Grange Saturday afternoon. This was their CWA meeting. A big crowd gathered for the afternoon. We saw a moose on the West Paris floodland as we were going to South Paris.

Mrs. Olive Risko took Olive Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks to Oxford Pomona Grange held at Harrison Wednesday night. A 6:30 supper was held before the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Taisto Koskela, who have been in Florida since January, returned by plane this last week. They flew up from Palm Beach at 10:15 a.m. and were in Portland by 2:30 p.m.

Sunday, Esther Davis, Patsy Tibbetts, Jackie Tibbetts, Edith Deegan and Tim Kennagh attended the "Sound of Music" at Oxford Hills High School. Later they took supper out at the Chef's Table.

A group of Grangers called on Evelyn Barnett, Inez Hart and other friends in the Town and Country Nursing home in South Paris Saturday afternoon.

Medicines With Mutiple Uses

Although we may think that medicines have just one specific use, many medicines have multiple uses. Aspirin, for example, is one of our most versatile medicines. Some health experts refer to it as the "miracle drug." Common aspirin is useful as a pain reliever, fever reducer, and inflammation fighter. Aspirin may also help prevent the occurrence of heart attacks because of its ability to prevent the formation of small clots in the bloodstream.

In low doses magnesium hydroxide (Milk of magnesia) is useful as an antacid. In higher doses, magnesium hydroxide draws water into the bowel and serves as a gentle laxative.

Antihistamines such as diphenhydramine and chlorpheniramine can be used for relief of a variety of health problems. The histamine-blocking action of these medicines makes them valuable in preventing or relieving allergic reactions to pollens, dust, insect bites, poisonous plants, and bee stings. The drying-effect of antihistamines provides relief of runny nose and congestion associated with the common cold. Also, the drowsiness associated with most antihistamines makes them ideal ingredients in nonprescription sleep aid tablets and capsules.

Littlehale, Chevalier plan September wedding

Learned and Carol Littlehale of Andover and Wilfred Chevalier of Thorndike and Marjorie Robbins of Gardiner are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Bobbi Lynn Littlehale and son Gregory Chevalier.

Bobbi Lynn Littlehale graduated from Mexico High School and attends the University of Maine at Farmington.

Gregory Chevalier graduated from the University of Maine at Farmington with a bachelor's degree in rehabilitation and is presently employed at Western Maine ARC.

A September 1990 wedding is planned.

THOUGHTS FROM THE

Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

My story is about a church service my family and I attended this past summer when I was on vacation.

A church was at worship on Sunday. During the opening prayer a visitor, sitting down near the front of the sanctuary, said "AMEN" several times. In this congregation seldom did anyone speak out during worship, and a wave of startled comments swept through the group. As the pastor delivered the sermon, the man shouted his approval, "Yes Lord, teach us."

The head usher became concerned and walked to the man's pew and asked him to restrain himself. For the visitor, restraint proved impossible, and several times he uttered words of praise or encouragement for the pastor. The congregation was noticeably upset.

The usher approached him and said he was sorry, but the man had better leave, as he was causing a great confusion. "I can't help it," the visitor said, "I've got the Spirit. "The usher said, "well, you didn't get it here."

This story tells us about the differences in the way people worship, and the ignorance some people have to place judgment on them. Regardless of how we worship or live, the Spirit of God moves where it will. The Spirit descends upon bad and good, high worship or low, rich or poor.

BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS

Nearly 60 Senior Citizens met April 11 at the Congregational Church in Bethel at 11 a.m. President Muriel Faudi welcomed new guests and read the Senior Citizens Lament.

Reports were read and accepted. Helen Saunders, Sunshine Committee reported nine get-well cards and two sympathy cards sent. Betty Blake raffled two items and reported on the penny project.

Prizes were won by Rudy Royer, Yvonne Morin and Alice Kimball.

Joan Coolidge announced plans for a bus trip in June, possibly to the Cathedral-in-the-Pines at Rindge, N.H. Lindley Wieden described the Elderhostel at Gould this summer and said to call 824-3276 for more information.

At the birthday table were: Agnes Haines, Evelyn Reed, Don and Elsie Bennett, K. McAllister and Alice Kimball.

Ranald Stevens offered the blessing and a bountiful dinner was served by the Women's Fellowship, with ice cream and cake by Leona Flint.

Following dinner Jean and Brendon Bass, pastors of the church, presented a slide show of their visit to England.

The Boy Scouts will serve dinner at the Masonic Dining Room Saturday, April 14 at 1 p.m.

with the Commission
(March 23, 1990)

Take notice that the following hydro-electric application has been filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and is available for public inspection.

a. Type of Application: Minor License
b. Project No.: 9340-000
c. Date filed: July 10, 1985, amended January 2, 1990
d. Applicant Lawrence E. and Veronica P. Smith
e. Name of Project: Kezar Falls
f. Location: On the Ossipee River in York and Oxford Counties, Maine
g. Filed Pursuant to: Federal Power Act 16 U.S.C. §§791(a) - 825(r)
h. Applicant Contact: Mr. Andrew E. Sims, Kleinschmidt Associates, 75 Main Street, P.O. Box 576, Pittsfield, ME 04967 (207) 487-3328
i. FERC Contact: Michael Dees (202) 357-0807
j. Comment Date: May 29, 1990
k. Description of Project: The proposed project has been amended and would now consist of the existing Kezar Falls Lower Dam and Upper Dam developments and a proposed minimum flow unit at the lower dam.

The existing Kezar Falls Upper Dam site consists of (1) an existing rock-filled timber crib dam 270 feet long with a crest elevation with flashboards of 366.7 feet USGS; (2) a concrete ogee spillway section 196 feet long with a crest elevation with flashboards of 366.7 feet USGS; (3) a 10 acre reservoir with a normal surface elevation of 366.7 feet USGS; (4) a power canal with earth embankments 720 feet long and 100 feet wide and a concrete flume 132 feet long and 33 feet wide; (5) a powerhouse, 23 feet by 37 feet, housing a 350-kW hydropower unit; (6) an existing trailrace; (7) an existing 40-foot-long transmission line; and (8) appurtenant facilities.

The existing Kezar Falls Lower Dam site would consist of: (1) an existing concrete-capped timber crib dam 290 feet long with a crest elevation with flashboards of 352.2 feet USGS; (2) a 4.5 acre reservoir with a normal surface elevation of 352.2 feet USGS; (3) a power canal with earth embankments 908 feet long by 30 to 90 feet wide; (4) a powerhouse, 38 feet by 46 feet, housing a 500-kW hydropower unit; (5) a tailrace; (6) a 125-foot long transmission line; (7) a proposed penstock 82 feet long (8) a proposed powerhouse, 23 feet by 18 feet, housing a 150-kW hydropower unit; (9) a proposed 1,000-foot-long transmission line; and (10) appurtenant facilities.

The applicant estimates that the average annual energy generation would be 5.6 GWh and proposes to sell the energy to Central Maine Power Company.

1. This notice also consists of the following standard paragraphs: B, C, and D1.

B. Comments, Protests, or Motions to Intervene—Anyone may submit comments, a protest, or a motion to intervene in accordance with the requirements of the Rules of Practice and Procedure. 18 C.F.R. sections 385.210, .211, .214. In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but only those who file a motion to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules may become a party to the proceeding. Any comments, protests, or motions to intervene must be received on or before the specified comment date for the particular application.

C. Filing and Service of Responsive Documents—Any filings must bear in all capital letters the title "COMMENTS," "RECOMMENDATIONS FOR TERMS AND CONDITIONS," "NOTICE OF INTENT TO FILE COMPETING APPLICATION," "COMPETING APPLICATIONS," "PROTEST" OR "MOTION TO INTERVENE," as applicable, and the project number of the particular application to which the filing is in response. Any of these documents must be filed by providing the original and the number of copies required by the Commission's regulations to: the Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: the Director, Division of Project Review, Office of Hydropower Licensing, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 204-RB, at the above address. A copy of any notice of intent, competing application, or motion to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the applicant specified in the particular application.

D1. Agency Comments—Agencies established pursuant to federal law that have the authority to prepare a comprehensive plan for improving, developing, and conserving a waterway affected by the project, federal and state agencies exercising administration over fish and wildlife, flood control, navigation, irrigation, recreation, cultural and other relevant resources of the state in which the project is located, affected Indian tribes, and states are requested to provide comments and recommendations for terms and conditions pursuant to the Federal Power Act (Act), as amended by the Electric Consumers Protection Act of 1986, the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, the Endangered Species Act, the National Historic Preservation Act, the Historical and Archeological Preservation Act, the National Environmental Policy Act, Public Law No. 88-29, and other applicable statutes. Recommended terms and conditions must be based on supporting technical data filed with the Commission, along with the recommendations, to comply with the requirement in Section 313(b) of the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. 8251(b), that the Commission findings as to facts must be supported by substantial evidence.

All other federal, state, and local agencies that receive this notice through direct mailing from the Commission are requested to provide comments pursuant to the statutes listed above. No other formal requests will be made. Responses should be confined to substantive issues relevant to the issuance of a license. A copy of the application may be obtained directly from the applicant. If an agency does not respond to the Commission within the time set for filing, the Commission will presume that the agency has none. One copy of an agency's response must also be sent to the applicant's representatives.

Obituaries

KARL O. KRAUL

Karl O. Kraul, 71, of 104 Rowe Avenue died April 7, 1990 in a local hospital. He was born in Portland, a son of Karl W. Kraul and Augusta Olsen Kraul. He attended Deering High School. Mr. Kraul had worked for Edo Aircraft, College Point, N.Y. before entering the Army during WWII. He was discharged in 1945 as a staff sergeant. He then worked for Baker Refrigeration of South Windham and South Portland Engineering Co.

He retired in 1981 from General Electric of South Portland were he was foreman and leadman in the fabrication department. Mr. Kraul was a former member of the Caldwell Post of American Legion and was an avid hunter and fisherman.

He is survived by his wife of 27 years, Helen Lowe Kraul of Portland; one son, Karl H. Kraul of Westbrook; one daughter, Mrs. Joseph (Grace) Miller of Sebago Lake; and two grandchildren.

There will be no funeral service. Private graveside services will be held at a later date. Arrangements are by Jones, Rich & Hutchins Funeral Home.

AILI K. JOHNSON

Aili K. Johnson, 71, of Norway died April 5, 1990 at Stephens Memorial Hospital, where she had been a patient for four days, and after a long illness.

She was born at Portland, March 30, 1919, the daughter of Henry and Silppa Kahara Kesseli. She received her education in the Livermore schools and married Oscar A. Johnson on Jan. 31, 1942. He died Dec. 19, 1963. Mrs. Johnson had lived in Norway since 1956, and had made her home with her daughter, Nancy Rich for the past 15 years.

She is survived by two sons, William H. Johnson of Auburn, and David O. Johnson of Lewiston; two daughters, Nancy E. Rich of Norway and Mrs. Marie A. McAlister of South Paris; two brothers, Kaino Kesseli of Connecticut, and Reino Kesseli of Norway; eight grandchildren, one step-grandchild and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on April 7, at the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock, with interment in the Finnish Cemetery, West Paris. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, Maine Division Inc., 52 Federal St., Brunswick 04011.

WILLIAM KINSMAN

the power to remove recreation committee members because they were voted on by the town at town meeting.

The recreation committe didn't acknowledge the selectmen's decision."

On April 3, Emerson said, Mills returned to the selectmen's meeting with the recreation committee's decision.

"It went way out of proportion," Emerson said. "It came back to the board with hostility rather than finding a way to work things out."

It was on April 3 that the selectmen voted to send a letter to the recreation committee. The letter, dated April 3, read: "To the members of the Recreation Committee: At their March 20 meeting, the selectmen voted to remove Christian Hutchins from membership on your committee. They expect the committee to comply with this request."

Emerson and Maselli signed the letter.

Emerson said Maselli also recommended witholding recreation committee funds if the committee refused to comply with the selectmen's directive.

"But that wasn't voted on," Emerson said. "It was said in response to: What do we do if push comes to shove."

At their last week's meeting, April 10, Emerson said, "Tonight we discussed it and we re-established by vote the same thing we had decided earlier.

Sharon Hutchins, a recreation committee member and Christian Hutchins' mother, had asked to be put on the selectmen's agenda for the April 10 meeting, "as a member of the recreation committee," said Rebecca Schachter, Andover administrative assistant.

Sharon Hutchins brought with her to the meeting two letters, both dated April 9 and signed by three members of the recreation committee, Hutchins and Foster Tabb and Paula Smith.

The recreation committee, as established at town meeting in March, is to consist of seven members, three of which are to be young people in the community.

The members named at the town meeting are Tabb, Sharon Hutchins, Trudy Akers, Smith, Brian Mills, Christian Hutchins, Sean Hawkes and George Casivant.

Hutchins and Tabb wrote that the recreation committee "decided that Christian shall remain on the committee.

"We are confident this matter is now closed and we can get on with the business of organizing the recreation activities of the town."

Smith wrote, "I feel that what Christian did was wrong, however, he has told our committee he's sorry for skateboarding on the tennis court and for his remarks. He said he would not do this again. Everyone deserves a second chance ... Let's stop working against what our committee is here to do and work together..."

Hutchins said last week, "The whole committee feels it was poorly handled. I would have preferred he had contacted us to be present at the [initial] selectmen's meeting."

She said, "I went to the selectmen's meeting Tuesday night as a representative of the recreation committee, to let the selectmen know how the committee felt."

Hutchins said she tried to separate her role as a recreation committee member and her role as a parent, and wasn't 100 percent successful.

She says of her son, "He blew it. He made a mistake. The kids knows he was wrong, He's admitted it. It's just a snit is what it is ... I talked with the other youths who were at the tennis court at the time and they said there was not bad language; it was short and sweet. That's all there was to it."

And, she said, there was another youth recreation committee member on the court at the same time. "He was not removed," Hutchins said.

"I'd hate to see him get off the committe in the middle of this. I think it would be foolish. Everybody does something dumb and foolish ... It was the way it was handled. It was the principal of the thing," she said.

Hutchins said the selectmen have been invited to the next meeting of the recreation committee, on April 18. She said what she wants is "to continue to have a good working committee and see this thing dropped and forgotten about so we can get on with our lives."

"There's a lot of energy there. I think we should get on with it," she said.

FRED RAYMOND

Graveside services for Fred Raymond will be held Tuesday, April 24, at 10 a.m. at Lakeside Cemetery, Bryant Pond, with Rev. Linwood Hanson officiating.

HELEN KALLIS

There will be a Memorial Service for Helen Kallis on Saturday, April 21, at 2 p.m. at the Bethel Gospel Center of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Andover

Rock's suit with the town cannot go on the court docket for at least a year. Emerson told the board that Attorney Webber agreed with all the steps the town has taken thus far.

The town is withholding payment for paving work Blue Rock did last summer because the work was not done properly, according to selectmen.

Blue Rock has notified the town it is suing the town for payment.

The selectmen voted for a 90 day waiting period for medical benefits for new town employees.

Boise Cascade sent detailed maps of their land holdings in Andover which will be reviewed by the selectmen.

The selectmen denied an Aroostook Valley Council of Governments' request for a colored photo of an Andover landmark to be hung with those of other towns in the new AVCOG office. Photos in the town's possession are in black and white.

Cholesterol screening clinic at BAHC April 26

The Bethel Area Health Center is sponsoring a non-fasting Cholesterol Screening Clinic on Thursday, April 26 from 5-8 p.m.

To avoid delay at the time of screening, it is recommended that individuals call or stop by the health center to set up an appointment time.

Smoking is a cause of heart disease and information about smoking cessation programs will be available.

Heart disease can be hereditary. A person is more likely to develop heart disease, if he or she has a close family member who has had a heart attack.

Everyone will receive a copy of their cholesterol level.

It is not necessary to fast prior to this test. There will be a $4 charge to cover the costs of the service. For more information, and to schedule an appointment for the Cholesterol Screening Clinic, please call 824-2193.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

The spring meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies will be held on Saturday, April 21 in Bethel at the host society's headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 2 p.m.

Members and delegates from the more than 15 historical societies in Oxford County are expected to attend.

Society Director Stanley R. Howe was at West Virginia University this week, serving on the M.A. examining committee for Joyce Wanger of Rumford.

Newest members of the Bethel Historical Society include Mansfield Packard, Locke Mills (senior member), Jeff Crandall, Charlottesville, Va. (sustaining member), Louise Seames, Locke Mills (senior member) and John R. Mason, D.D.S., Bethel (business member).

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: Unusually heavy rains caused washouts on the Holt Hill Road; damage also occurred in Upton, East B Hill and Backstreet.

George H. Chase of Saco, a Bethel native and 1958 graduate of Gould Academy, was named Game Warden of the Year according to Chief Warden Alanson B. Noble of the Maine Fish and Wildlife Department.

The kindergarten class at Locke Mills Elementary School visited the sugaring operation of John Chase in Locke Mills. He showed them all the steps in the gathering and processing of maple sap; they had pancakes with maple syrup on them following the field trip.

Births: Mark Ryan Tripp, Phillip C. Lynch, Andrew D. Lynch, Laurie N. Young, Andrew J. Deraspe. Deaths: Libbie Kneeland, Dorothy Greenlow, Mahlon B. Grover, Marion M. Richardson.

20 years ago: Jean Constantine spoke on birds at the Bethel Senior Citizens meeting at Garland Chapel, showing slides and discussing habits and habitats.

Ruth Grover of West Bethel celebrated her 87th birthday. Deaths: Louise B. Walters, Myrtle M. Emery.

30 years ago: Robert Korhonen of Bethel escaped injury when his car was demolished on Route 120 in Rumford after it went out of control.

Sunday River Skiway closed for the season after its first winter of operation.

Grade eight student Alan Chapman of Crescent Park School in Bethel was the winner in the district spelling contest of School Union 22. Another CPS student was runner up, Grace Haines.

Ralph and Marion Hall, formerly of East Milton, Mass. arrived to become full-time residents of Bethel in their Paradise home.

Birth: Doreen Fay. Marriage: Lee F. Carroll and Judith A. Magoun. Deaths: Crystal S. Gorman, Harry M. Swift, Lucien Andrews.

40 years ago: Ground was broken by Damon Brothers of Norway for a half mile stock car race track on Oxford Plains. The $50,000 project included a grandstand seating 5,000 and opening day was scheduled for Memorial Day.

Births: Theodore S. Crockett, Monica G. Porter. Deaths: Elden S. Goodwin, Frank E. Decoster.

50 years ago: Fire between the floors and petitions of the home of Millard Clough on Mill Hill caused damage estimated at $150.

Deaths: Addie M. Stone, Dr. Frank E. Hanscom.

The Chamberlain Resort
Cordially invites the public to attend
Open House
of Western Maine's newest Four Season Resort
from 10-4 p.m. Fri., Sat., Sun. April 20, 21, 22
An affordable luxury home in a resort atmosphere that has Four Season appeal for all ages.

A home for all seasons.
Imagine living minutes from work...and shopping. Imagine the privacy. The quiet. The elbow room. Picture a true 4-season home in the mountains - The Chamberlain Resort - along the Androscoggin River where your family canoes and fishes, minutes from the high country of Grafton Notch, on the edge of the Mahoosuc Range where the Appalachian Trail remains untouched. And when you choose to downhill ski, Sunday River is only 7 miles away...Of course, there's nothing wrong with a little luxury either. Your Jacuzzi bath, for example. And the year-round, heated outdoor pool. Or the simple luxury of a private balcony and a view across the river to the mountains. Discover a new value in a mountain home. Year round on site - Rental management available.
